

BIG IDEAS:

THE ISSUES OF OUR TIME

Please join us for a series of talks addressing some of humanity's shared challenges and opportunities as we work to advance an emerging global civilization. This series brings together current research, experience, contemporary discourses and Baha'i perspectives. Please publicize widely.

"Be anxiously concerned with the needs of the age ye live in and its exigences and requirements."

"Where can we find the hope to build the future we need?" with Daniel Truran

Daniel invites us to explore four words in his title:

1. HOPE

How can we deal with uncertainty, lack of truth and trust, and the global challenges we face, that seem to have left us only a glimmer of hope. So how can we find hope with so much hopelessness around us?

2. POSSIBLE FUTURES

What are the possible future scenarios that are emerging?

3. BUILDING THE FUTURE

How can we not just sit and observe but become active contributors to building the future?

4. WHAT FUTURE DO WE NEED?

What future do we really need? What is the most beneficial future for us, for our institutions and for society?

About Daniel: Daniel is a strategist, impact innovator, speaker and enabler. He has dedicated the last 20 years to exploring and harnessing the connection between the values, the purpose and actions of people and companies, and inspiring and creating communities and movements that are building the future—a better, more prosperous, sustainable and just future.

Daniel is director general at ebbf—Ethical Business Building the Future—<https://ebbf.org> a Baha'i-inspired global learning community accompanying mindful business leaders. He is B Corp ambassador at B Lab Europe <https://bcorporation.eu>, a movement of people using business as a force for good, and Partner at NOW Partners, (<https://now.partners>) building regenerative economic, leadership and planetary futures. He teaches at various business schools, and offers inspirational talks and sessions to spark the transition that the people of the world want and need.
