

THE BAHÁ'Í FAITH AND THE ISSUES OF OUR TIME

Please join us for a series of talks addressing some of humanity's shared challenges and opportunities as we work to advance an emerging global civilization. This series brings together perspectives from the Bahá'í writings with current research and experience as well as contemporary discourses on key issues of our time.

Friday, March 27 7:30pm

Power, Conflict and Governance, Maury Miloff

The Bahá'í Writings extend far beyond foundational individual spiritual practises to address the real-world challenges spanning community-making to global governance. We will discuss some of the unique Bahá'í approaches which are being implemented around the world, for example regarding election methods, small group decision-making and economic justice.

Friday, February 21 7:30pm

The Bahá'í Faith and Human Rights, Tony Michel

Friday, January 24 7:30pm

Environmental crisis; Climate Emergency: Looking for Answers in the Bahá'í Revelation, Diana Cartwright

Talks will be followed by open discussion. Everyone is welcome.
